The funicular railway travels up steep hills of the old town for more exploration of Alfama's winding streets past charming shops, cozy restaurants, exotic gardens and traditional Fado clubs. Consider joining our optional excursion to Sintra, a fairytale-like town and UNESCO World Heritage Site. Streets are lined with pastel colored houses surrounded by lush hills that roll down to the Atlantic along the coast. Some of the must-see sights are the colorful Pena Palace, built in the Romanticism style; the Gothic Palácio Nacional; and the ancient walls of Castelo dos Mouros, perched high above the city. Visit the Quinta da Regaleira estate containing an extensive and enigmatic system of tunnels. Today it is one of Portugal's finest national monuments. We end our tour at the famous Lello Bookstore. Even if you are not interested in books, you don't want to miss this exquisite 1906 neo-Gothic construction, with its carved plaster resembling wood and stained-glass skylight. Its intricately wrought, spiral staircase was supposedly the inspiration for 'Grand Staircase at Hogwarts' in the Harry Potter books, which JK Rowling partly wrote in Porto while working here as an English teacher from 1991 to 1993. Vila Nova de Gaia, considered the port wine capital, is just across the Douro River. Lodges of the historic port wine
