

Wolfpack Women in Philanthropy Inaugural Symposium

Featuring: A Conversation With Vivian Howard

With emcee Kat Campbell of WRAL

Tuesday, May 27, 2025

9-11:30 a.m.

Dorothy and Roy Park Alumni Center
2450 Alumni Drive
Raleigh, NC 27606

Wolfpack Women in Philanthropy is a group of passionate donors dedicated to connecting with women across the NC State community and creating opportunities to support the university. Founded during the 2018-19 academic year, Wolfpack Women in Philanthropy continues to grow its presence on campus through panel discussions, webinars, fundraising, board representation and, now, a symposium and the Wolfpack Women in Philanthropy Impact Fund.

Join Wolfpack Women in Philanthropy for our inaugural symposium, where we dive into what it means to be an influential leader through a conversation with Vivian Howard and other leaders at NC State, including the inaugural recipients of the Wolfpack Women in Philanthropy Impact Fund. Walk away from this event with new connections and tips for how you can be an influential leader in your own community.

Schedule of Events

9-9:45 a.m. | Welcome Coffee & Connections

Kickstart your morning with a curated networking experience featuring 321 Coffee, a local, mission-driven roastery. Meet like-minded women dedicated to making an impact.

10-11:30 a.m. | Keynote & Leadership Panel: Influential Leadership

Award-winning chef, author, and entrepreneur Vivian Howard joins influential NC State leaders for an engaging discussion on how to harness your influence for meaningful change. This session also celebrates the inaugural recipients of the Wolfpack Women in Philanthropy Impact Fund—inspiring women who are shaping the future.
